Family (or Parent) Conferencing: Developing Trust - Xochitl Ortega, WFCCA Representative, Region 15

Explore a multifaceted approach to family conferencing. Participants will learn skills for effective family conferencing. A few skills to learn are: Training Strategies and Tips, Follow-Up Activities for Teachers, and Assessing and Evaluating Children. We will explore ways and how to have effective parent-teacher conferences.

Do Ahead Daycare Preparation for Busy Providers - Karen Brendemihl, NAFCC Nationally Accredited FCC Provider

Come and experience easy to make and put together valuable materials to make your day to day teaching easier! Some are make n take and some are examples to view. Be ready to share with us your own strategies and samples also! Examples are communication ideas, curriculum helps, learning games, holiday and birthday helps, etc...Most of these use inexpensive paper and art materials. Come join the fun!

Power to the Profession - Diane Eisen, WFCCA Representative, Region 15

WECA is a proud participant in Power to the Profession - a two-year collaborative project lead by NAEYC. As a partner in this project we will be inviting you to offer your thoughts in a variety of ways. Questions will relate to how you experience the field of early childhood education and what you need to stay in the field and perform the vital work of teaching and leading. Through small group discussion and online surveys there will be opportunity to reflect on and contribute your views on key questions facing the early childhood education profession.

Exploring the New Meal Patterns USDA: Family Child Care - Xochitl Ortega, WFCCA Representative, Region 15

Participants will share new information on the new meal pattern (USDA) in their programs that focus on easier menu planning. Participants will leave with the information to help new meal pattern planning requirements. Explore the colorful and engaging materials that can be used to empower Child Food Program providers and operators with the knowledge, skills, and expertise to implement the updated CACFP meal pattern requirements that became effective October 1, 2017.
